Ashland, The Henry Clay Estate
Celebrates Women's History Month and International Women's Day
Women's Voices Tour
Tuesdays and Thursdays 4 p.m.

March 7, 2021 (Lexington, KY) – Ashland, The Henry Clay Estate, celebrates Women's History Month and International Women's Day by offering the Women's Voices tour every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. This docent-led tour focuses on nine women of Ashland, including Madeline McDowell Breckinridge, whose lives span a century of social, cultural, and political evolution. As you visit the rooms that the women of Ashland inhabited, you will hear their voices—the causes they championed, the challenges they faced, and the heartache they suffered. The tour also explores the changing role of women from the early-19th century to the mid-20th century.

Tour tickets are available at henryclay.org/tours. Private and virtual tours may be booked by contacting Phil Janes at pjanes@henryclay.org or 859-266-8581 x202.

About Ashland, The Henry Clay Estate

Ashland, The Henry Clay Estate is located at 120 Sycamore Road in Lexington and is Kentucky's first National Historic Landmark. The Henry Clay Memorial Foundation was established in 1926 as a private, nonprofit organization. It exists to promote the legacy of Henry Clay, to share his continued relevance locally and nationally as a great statesman and to preserve his beloved Ashland as a testament to his love of Kentucky and country. You can help us expand our online presence by renewing your Friends membership or becoming a Friend of Ashland. The Henry Clay Memorial Foundation does not receive any government support, so it relies on the generosity of individuals and businesses who care about Henry Clay's legacy and American history.
